

The Eastlea Tabernacle - June 2008 Status Report

Much construction work for the super-structure has already been accomplished. The tabernacle is now habitable and we have entered the 'finishing touches' stage. However, the cost of the remaining works is still huge and staggering. But the faith in the congregation is growing by day. Every Sunday a large drum – yes I mean a 200liter drum is used to collect an offering for the construction work.

The Eastern-side

The baptistery is now complete and functional. Several baptismal services have been conducted therein the latest being on the 29th of June 2008 where eight brother and sisters took their decision to fulfill one of the three things that Jesus Christ said believers should observe (Baptism, Communion, and Feet washing).

The Baptistery

Work on the rest rooms is almost complete with a few fittings remaining but they are already operational.

The Sisters' ground floor rest rooms

In the past month, significant progress has been registered in the offices side. The floors have been tiled with both wooden and stone tiles. The finish is quite impressive and will look excellent once polished.

Window blinds and floor tiles (stone)

Window blinds have also been set-up in the offices. The ceiling has been nicely done and oil waiting to be painted.

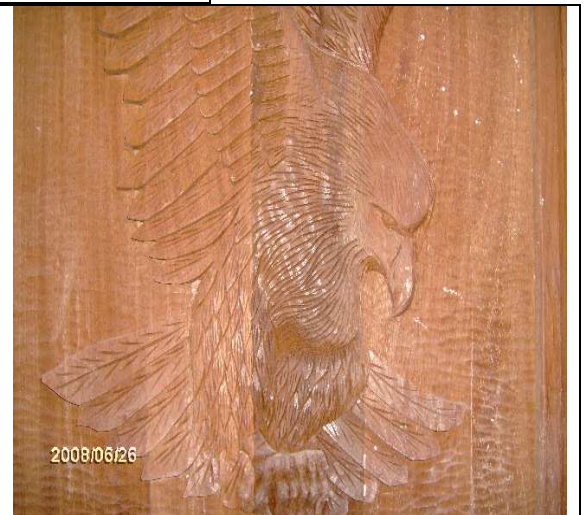

The beautiful ceiling

Particular pain is being taken to ensure that all fittings are of a high quality and nice looking. Look at the door to the right which is one of the doors leading to the Pastor's office with the beautiful engraving that is all too familiar to the 1980-90s back-page of the Spoken Word books.

The gorgeous doors and matching wooden floor tiles

Elegant aluminum door and window frames have also been used for the main exits. The picture below shows sliding doors which open to the balcony of the pastor's office.

Aluminum fittings

Every weekend brethren gather at the site to give a hand to the full-time construction workers who labor throughout the week to finish the House of the Lord. We solicit your prayers and assistance in any manner possible that this building be completed this year.

We shall Work Till Jesus Comes!!!
